Coors Brewers Ltd Board Appointments

The promotion of Stewart Glendinning, Coors Brewers Finance Director, to be Global Chief Financial Officer of the Molson Coors Brewing Company has created a vacancy on the Board of Coors Brewers in the UK.

Stepping across from his current role as Strategy Director, David Heede (47) becomes Finance Director with additional responsibility for IT. He joined the business in 1979 and has over 15 years of finance experience as well as having held significant leadership roles in sales, strategic sourcing and business strategy. David is a qualified accountant and has an MBA from Nottingham University. He is married with two sons and his principle interests are beer and golf.

Replacing David Heede as Strategy Director is Simon Cox (40) who joined Coors in 2005 and is currently Director of Strategic Sourcing and Technical. He has a degree in Biochemistry from Manchester University and is a Diploma Master Brewer in both the UK and Scandinavia. Simon joined the brewing industry in 1989 and has run breweries in Denmark, Vietnam and China. He is married with three children and his passions are Liverpool Football Club and National Hunt Racing.

Mark Hunter, CEO at Coors Brewers Ltd said: "These changes signal our ambition and capability to develop our people and I would like to personally thank Stewart for his contribution and support as he moves to the USA and wish David and Simon every success in their new roles.

The appointments are effective from 1st July and will be based in the head office in Burton on Trent.
