

PRESS RELEASE

Halfway pint for charity bike ride

Coors Brewers' employee and Burton resident – Nigel Read – celebrated reaching the half-way point of his John O'Groats to Land's End charity bike ride by stopping off at The Brewery Tap for a well-earned pint.

Nigel is riding the length of the UK in aid of both Mencap – Coors official charity – and the NSPCC. The mammoth ride – estimated at 950 miles in length - starts from John O'Groats on 14th June – passed through Burton on the 19th – and will finish at Land's End on the 23rd June.

Project Director, Nigel Read said: "I've been cycling for over eight years but this will definitely be my biggest challenge ever! Whilst I enjoy cycling, at the same time it's very rewarding to be able to raise funds for two charities I strongly support and I'd like to thank everyone for their kind donations. When the going gets tough I'll definitely be thinking of both deserving causes and the people who have supported me.

"It was a real boost to stop off half way in my home town and have a pint at The Brewery Tap with family, friends and colleagues before I heading off to complete the final 350 miles of the journey to Land's End."
