Coors Brewers Ltd invests in Leeds office

The UK's 2nd largest brewer, Coors Brewers Ltd is investing in its Leeds employees as it moves the Telesales and Free Trade support team from its current offices in Headingley to purpose-build premises in Thorpe Park, Leeds.

Coors, which has three breweries in the UK (Burton, Alton and Tadcaster) and two Telesales offices in Cardiff and Leeds, has been based in Headingley for 25 years since it was Bass Brewers. As times have changed over the years it's now time to move our team to brand new premises.

Thanks to local commercial property company Atisreal, the team will move during March and will be fully up and running before Easter.

Eugene Reddington, Regional Sales MD at Coors, said: "We've been in our current offices for 25 years and this is a good opportunity to now move with the times and get our team into these bespoke telesales offices at Thorpe Park. During all this doom and gloom of the recession we're fully committed to supporting the Licensed Trade in the North and we hope this investment is welcome news for the area.

"This demonstrates our passion to deliver great sales and service to our customers and with a brand portfolio of Carling, Coors Light, Magners, Grolsch, Sol, not forgetting those ale favourites Worthington, Stones and Caffrey's, we are upbeat about the future."
